Advisory, whose purpose is to touch base and connect with kids along providing social and emotional learning had some feedback regarding the “canned” feel and the fact that there is no incentive, looking for ways to make it more appealing for kids to engage, SkyTime/Forum are worth 1 credit, maybe a thought.
In general, the students are struggling with how much time they have to be on the computer (headaches and exhaustion reported) and are getting quite a lot of homework so even Wednesday has been a full day on the computer as well.
